Roger Hammer is a singer-songwriter who builds his hand-crafted songs with pieces of blues, folk and rock. Born in Omaha, NE he studied piano and woodwinds at an early age and performed in competitive bands and orchestras. In his teens he taught himself guitar and bass and began writing music and playing with folk and rock bands. Later, based in Chicago, he made hundreds of appearances in Illinois and surrounding states. In the Harrisburg, PA area he continued to write and perform in local clubs, wineries and festivals, and appeared frequently with the Blues Society of Central PA and the Susquehanna Folk Music Society as a duo with multi-talented guitarist JD (John Drudul). His songs were featured on the Millennium Music Conference CD (Rum Runner) and the benefit CD, Backyard Blues (Love or Money) which was highly rated in Blues charts and received airplay on college and internet radio. Hammer hand-crafted reflects on the ability of personal music to build atmosphere and relationships, while digital audio and video media technologies are fully employed to make the work available anywhere, any time. He is currently located in Lake County, Illinois.

Hammer sings and plays electric and acoustic guitars, bass, saxophone, song flute (recorder), keyboards, and programs rhythm tracks. Except as noted, all albums were mixed, mastered, and produced by Roger Hammer.
